Dexter News

The announcement of the sudden illness and death of Hamlet Cud made on Wednesday morning, May 13th, 1931, sent a shock through the community where he was so generally known, and also other parts of county.

An inquiry developed the facts that on Monday Hamlet rose early, making an early trip to town and returned shortly, in his usual good health and prepared for work. At 11 o'clock he told his wife he had a severe pain in his stomach and had to quit work. He steadily grew worse, leaving his lovely little home he adored for Keys-Houston Clinic Tuesday afternoon at 6 o'clock submitting to an operation. But God in his great wisdom saw fit to take him where there is no suffering.

He was loved and honored by a large concourse of friends and relatives for his assuring, quiet type of disposition and honesty being his great characteristics.

He loved his Maker and always was patient of wrongs and expressed often his intention to obey God's Commands. Monday evening at 7 o'clock he was buried into a casket by the order of Baptism by Brother Brooks, immediately before the operation. He expressed, "I feel better," and braved the operation with great courage that may be beneficial.

One of his loved traits was that he loved all children, making them happy with gifts and needs; type of pleasure was his pleasure. He was a man of charity, never letting his left hand know what his right hand did. A friend he was staunch and true, honorable in all dealings, obstentious in all his ways and manners; was loved by those who knew him best. His funeral, like his life, was quiet and simple, which took place on the lawn of his beautiful little home, where he loved to repose in meditation. The service was conducted by Bro. J. J. Norman of Benton, assisted by Bro. R. R. Brooks of Murray; were simple, impressive and beautifully carried out by his wishes. The throng of people present attested high esteem and respect for him and sympathy felt for his aged parents, wife, sisters, and brothers, in whose homes his death is keenly felt.

On February 16, 1916 he was united in marriage to Miss Ethel Johnson, of Jeffersonville, Ind., moving here in April 1916, to make their home. Mrs. Cud has won the admiration of great host of friends throughout the county who extend sympathy even to little children. Mr. Cud was a member of Disabled American Veterans at large.

Palbearers were: Paul Darnell, Ewin Mathis, Vic Jeffrey, and Ocus Puckett.

Miss Anna Dee Jeffrey of Murray and Miss Jessie Andrus were Monday night guests of Miss Celesta Andrus.

Mr. Ocus Puckett, Esq. Puckett, Mr. and Mrs. Presley Ford, Mrs. Clint Lancaster, and Maxie Puckett motored Monday evening to Whitlock, Tenn., to be at the bedside of their brother-in-law, Ben Edwards, whose condition is hopeless at this time.

Mrs. Belle Jackson, who has been ill several weeks is somewhat improved.

A fine girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mathis Tuesday morning, May 12. Congratulations.

Mr. Pogue, of M. S. T. C., was a visitor Sunday of Mrs. Jannie Copeland and son, Clay, and made an impressive address on "Mother" at M. E. church.

Mrs. Bettie Goben and daughter, Iris, who were visitors several days with Mr. and Mrs. Clint Skaggs, have returned to their home in Paducah.

Mr. Phillip Smith left Sunday with his son, Will Smith, and family to pay them a visit at Paris, Tenn.

Mrs. Will Reeves spent Monday with her brother-in-law and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reeves.

Mrs. Ethel Cud, Mrs. W. T. Ford and son of Jackson, Tenn., arrived Thursday afternoon by motor to attend the funeral services of Mr. Ford's friend, Hamlet Cud. A sad thing of their trip was that they had planned to pay a pleasant visit to his home the last of May.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hargis and son, Bobbie Starks, were the guests later part of week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Starks and sister, Mrs. Louis Ernestberger.

Friends of Mr. Seaton Redden here are very much concerned about his recovery. His condition is critical at the Mason Memorial Hospital at this writing.

James Ben Jones, Vivian Cleaver, Eric and Mary Lou Jeffery, Little Margie Neel Reeves, Master James Davis Puckett and Fred Dickey Jeffery acted as flower-bearers for Hamlet Cud's burial services.

Our Mafied Friends

The generous editorial support given Rainey T. Wells in the governor's race by the Mafied Messenger and thousands of other good citizens of Mayfield and Graves county naturally heap coals of fire on our heads for our recent editorial concerning the Egner's Ferry road.

The magnanimity of our Mayfield and Graves county friends in rallying to Mr. Wells after that rude jolt has gone far to convince us of their district-mindedness and to lead us to co-operate with them for the mutual advantage of this entire section of Kentucky which, God knows, needs badly enough to stick together for its own welfare.

We'll confess that a good deal of bitterness went into that article, for a large part of which we are now contrite. However, my Mafied friends must remember that this writer was at the time of the location of Murray State College, a citizen of another city and was just as much disappointed in not getting the school at Mayfield as it cost me a pretty penny to pay my entrance fee to become a citizen and business man of Murray.

And our Mafied friends who suffered sore frustration in not obtaining the college for their city, must kindly remember that Murray and Calloway feel equally disappointed and thwarted in not being fortunate enough to get on a single Federal highway. After all, the college here belongs not to Murray but to Western Kentucky. Its advantages are open to every boy and girl in this section and it is nothing but natural and logical that we should wish it to be easily accessible to all by modern highways—a consummation for which other communities of Western Kentucky should also strive for their own benefit.

In view of the interpretation placed on our original article, we think it not amiss to re-quote from two of its paragraphs—in the first we said, "There are many admirable people in Mayfield and Graves county and an indictment of a whole people is not only unfair but ridiculous."

In the second place, we stated, "It is not that we object to the road but that it be thrust ahead of others infinitely more important."

Most often, there's no better way to understanding and mutual agreement than speaking frankly and frankly we are confident that these developments and this generosity on their part will go far toward cementing a friendship between Graves and Calloway that has never existed before. For our part, the open hand of fellowship is extended.

On to November

This editorial copy is written on the back of a piece of campaign literature that was "left over." It rolled out from my typewriter Saturday morning, while in feverish haste to get everything possible done before leaving for the state convention Sunday night.

By the time it appears the convention will probably be over, possibly it won't, for no one can tell what will happen in a state convention. It may be another "Hull" and it may be the most harmonious gathering of the sons and daughters of Miss Democracy that ever took place.

It is needless to say that the Ledger & Times voices the sincere hope of 90 per cent of the Democracy of Western Kentucky that a ticket of clean and honorable men will be nominated to carry the party's banner to victory in November. Whether that will be accomplished remains to be seen.

The Democratic party in Kentucky is in a critical position. It has a wonderful opportunity to show its true mettle and reflect the true convictions of the great rank and file of the party.

It is unnecessary to say that the Ledger & Times will support the ticket nominated. A bolter is exactly like the fellow who takes his turn at bat and fails to pitch to the other fellow. A participant in a convention honor-binds himself to play the game through.

No reasonable man can expect the party always to follow the same program that he would dictate. If we are to play the game, we must follow the principles of Democracy.

When this principle is applied to the case of the party, it is not surprising to see that this party can best serve the interests of Kentucky and the people. Certainly, the spirit of government we have had emanating from Frankfort for the past four years would convince any doubters on that point.

Loyal Co-workers

This is a personal editorial and I, therefore, write it in the first person singular. Saturday night of last week, the editor left unexpectedly on a trip through Eastern Kentucky with Dr. Rainey T. Wells.

Monday morning, Mrs. Joe Lovett, the editor's constant inspiration, and the hustling young Clay Copeland, able and willing assistant, took the reins over and piloting this sheet to its successful conclusion Thursday morning.

Calloway Circuit Court
Columbia Life Insurance Co.,
Vs. Supplemental Judgment
C. L. Stone and Wife, Maggie Stone, B. D. Johnson and Wife, Ellen Johnson.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Calloway Circuit Court rendered at the April term thereof, 1931, in the above cause for the purpose of payment of debts and costs here in expended, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the court house door in Murray, Kentucky, to the highest bidder at public auction, on Monday, the 25 day of May, 1931, at 1 o'clock or thereabout (same being county court day) upon a credit of six months, the following described property, being and lying in Calloway County, Kentucky, to-wit:

Being a part of the North East Quarter Section 23, Township 2, Range 3 East and bounded as follows to-wit:

Beginning twenty-two (22) poles East of the North West Corner of said Quarter Section, thence South with the line of Allie Short one hundred thirty-seven (137) poles to a rock thence East parallel with the Quarter Section line fifty-five (55) poles to a rock thence North parallel with the Section line one hundred thirty-seven (137) poles to a rock in the North line of said section, thence West with the said line to the point of beginning, containing forty-four (44) acres, and being the same land conveyed to Claude L. Stone, by deed, from Leonard Radford recorded in deed book 44 page 261, in the office of the Clerk of the Calloway County Court, Ky.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved securities, bearing legal interest from the day of sale, until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms. Geo. S. Hart, Master Commissioner.

THE LEDGER & TIMES, MURRAY, KENTUCKY

readers, said it was the best edition in months. It is needless to say that those in charge of the news and advertising received the most generous, enthusiastic and whole-hearted co-operation of the mechanical department.

Rollie Melton and Ralph Wear, ran a race each morning. I think to see who could arrive at the office first. (There was a great rush of job printing on last week in addition to the newspapers.)

The same loyal workers will be in charge of this week's edition. Only the editorial material has been prepared by myself, the regular editor.

In conclusion, we all wish to thank the merchants for their generous advertising support and all the people for their kindly assistance in helping with the news.

These are always appreciated, but especially so in emergencies. And in conclusion, last but not least, we want to make public recognition of the splendid work of our correspondence. They're as dependable as the rising sun.

JUST JOTS

By Joe

If this column appears longer than usual this week, it is because last week's batch got left out. Another improvement made by the editor's good wife and young Clay Copeland while the Jotter was polishing in Easter Kentucky.

George Bingham says his paper is popular because it is published by and for poor folks. Most papers are published by poor folks all right but they try to get both classes on the subscription list.

The least believed man in the world is the painter. Haste makes a long road and waste makes a hard one.

Our idea of an utterly useless law is that no man can succeed himself as Governor in Kentucky.

Another peculiarity of the human family is how sympathetic it can be for a hardened criminal and how cold toward an innocent sufferer.

A London news-story says Snowden's tax plan was cheered. In this country, all tax plans are cheered.

A third effort to sell the Herald-Post, the very human reaction that nobody wants a sick horse very badly.

Mayor Walker of New York, denounces his foe as "Red" while they retaliate by accusing him of having a partiality for red lights.

Tom Turner says J. C. Penny should have a champion coat be-turn the dirt the same as ours, opposite from the "Bluegrass agitatorist." The principal difference between Kentuckians of the two extremities of the state is that they get mad a little quicker and shoot a little faster.

The past three weeks have settled the issue more firmly than ever that he'll never be a candidate for public office, either appointive or elective, in convention or primary.

The office-holder is presumptively "the servant of the people." The candidate is professedly "the servant of the people."

The defeated candidates may take some consolation in the truism that the majority is often in the wrong and the best man more frequently than not fails to win.

The deepest sympathy of this writer goes out to our Dexter correspondent, Mrs. Mamet Curd, who lost her husband in death last week. While not having had the opportunity of more than a passing acquaintance with Mr. Curd we have always been exceedingly grateful for the splendid assistance his good wife has given this newspaper as its Dexter representative. She has the sincere condolence of every member of this newspaper staff.

The Elizabethtown News remarks that "Rainey Wells has a name which might prove popular in Kentucky after a drought." After a long drought of good government, Wells will, if given the opportunity, reap the benefits of an able and just administration on Kentucky and wash away some of the corruption from Kentucky affairs.

cause he's been taking the cream of the farmers' cows for years.

The stupendous success of "City Lights," Charlie Chaplin's great talk-less picture, at the Capitol Monday and Tuesday (the advertising is free, Mr. Hendricks) indicates that it doesn't always take a lot of gab to make the grade.

A Jew gave us some pretty good advice the other day: "Don't talk smart, do smart."

Even though it is our business to sell advertising, we'll tell you frankly that the success of your business depends more on the way you run it than on the way you advertise it.

Now that it is definitely decided that Democrats will nominate their ticket in convention, why not forget the factional differences that have disrupted the party so frequently in the past? If you have a candidate, do your best for him at the county convention and later at Lexington. If you lose, accept the result like a good sportsman, and for the success of the ticket.

All factions of any party are difficult to satisfy. In every party there are leaders, who "control" who make a business of politics and whose control is distasteful to other factions, that believe good government could best be achieved by ousting the controllers and doing the leading themselves. The fact that those are frequently right in their contention does not, it seems to us, warrant the wrecking of the party as a matter of vengeance, nor is party wrecking effective in removing influences regarded as sinister.

So long as the political party system is deemed the best means of achieving our representative type of government, there will be found those who take their politics seriously and who work practically after the ticket is elected, as well as at election time. These will "lead" next election time, as a general rule. So, it seems to us, the faction regarding itself as best suited for leadership should begin work after the party candidate has been safely elected and not before.

Otherwise, what is the outcome of the fight? The party goes down in defeat and the opposing party, equally as "leader-controlled," and frequently by the same set of astute and practical politicians, is victorious. ## Factions, Leaders And Sinister Influence

(Carleton Mercur)

Now that it is definitely decided that Democrats will nominate their ticket in convention, why not forget the factional differences that have disrupted the party so frequently in the past? If you have a candidate, do your best for him at the county convention and later at Lexington. If you lose, accept the result like a good sportsman, and for the success of the ticket.

All factions of any party are difficult to satisfy. In every party there are leaders, who "control" who make a business of politics and whose control is distasteful to other factions, that believe good government could best be achieved by ousting the controllers and doing the leading themselves. The fact that those are frequently right in their contention does not, it seems to us, warrant the wrecking of the party as a matter of vengeance, nor is party wrecking effective in removing influences regarded as sinister.

So long as the political party system is deemed the best means of achieving our representative type of government, there will be found those who take their politics seriously and who work practically after the ticket is elected, as well as at election time. These will "lead" next election time, as a general rule. So, it seems to us, the faction regarding itself as best suited for leadership should begin work after the party candidate has been safely elected and not before.

Otherwise, what is the outcome of the fight? The party goes down in defeat and the opposing party, equally as "leader-controlled," and frequently by the same set of astute and practical politicians, is victorious. Not much consolation in such a contingency for the man who would rather see his party defeated than "compromise with dishonor," as he sees it.

Consider your Adam's Apple!! Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Now! Please!—Actually put your finger on your Adam's Apple. Touch it—your Adam's Apple—Do you know you are actually touching your larynx?—This is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants—Reach for a LUCKY instead—Remember, LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette in America that through its exclusive "TOASTING" process expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are sold to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE, and so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

Harris Grove

The weather is still cold and coats are a very nice thing to have.
I attended the Sunday afternoon service at Lynn Grove high school and heard one of the best sermons I have ever heard.
Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Rogers and family of Murray visited his sister, Mrs. Ella Kelson, Sunday.
Mr. Jim Pickard and family visited in the home of Roy Kelson Sunday.
Mrs. Bernard Jones and children visited her mother, Mrs. Della Armstrong one day last week.
Mrs. Laura Murdock and son, Leslie of Murray, visited Mrs. Etta Boyd Sunday. Mrs. Boyd is reported no better.
Mrs. Reed King of Mayfield has been at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Etta Boyd, for a few days.
The most thrilling thing that I have seen right lately was a U. S. Army plane flying about fifty feet above the earth. Really looked like he was coming down in the yard.
Miss Para Lee Morris attended the baccalaureate sermon at Lynn Grove Sunday afternoon.
Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Page and Mrs. Della Armstrong attended baccalaureate sermon at Hazel Sunday afternoon. —"Busy Bee"

Lynn Grove Hi

Commencement exercises at Lynn Grove were scheduled to come to close Thursday evening, May 14, with the class address by Dr. Herbert Drennon, head of the English department of Murray State Teachers College. In response to the large number of requests, however, the senior play, "Wild Ginger", that was given last Saturday evening, will be given again in the school auditorium Saturday evening, May 16.
The final day of school will be Friday, May 15. Plans for the school year 1931-32 are being made already. Only two changes will be made in regular teaching force. All the teachers have accepted places on the faculty for the coming year except Miss Ruth Lawrence, teacher of the primary grades for the past eight years, and Mrs. Golda Dunn, instructor in high school algebra and home economics for the last four.
Mrs. Dunn and Miss Lawrence expect to be in school this coming year. Mrs. Dunn will continue work on her master's degree, and Miss Lawrence will finish her bachelor's degree.
Mrs. T. C. Arnett has been selected to fill the vacancy in the primary department, and Miss Eva Mae Workman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Workman, will be in high school.
Burton Jeffrey, who was given a leave of absence at the middle of the year, will be back at Lynn Grove at the opening of the fall semester. He expects to receive his bachelor's degree at end of summer semester.
Miss Sallie Howard, English instructor, will leave for Peabody immediately following close of school.
The grade teachers, Misses Thelma Jones, Jessie Sherman, Louella McDaniel, and Mrs. T. C. Arnett already are in school at Murray State College. Miss McDaniel expects to receive her A. B. this summer. Miss Sherman, Mrs. Arnett, and Miss Jones are seniors.
Band lessons under the direction of the County Band Instructor, S. W. Floyd, will continue each Wednesday afternoon and evening throughout the summer. In a few weeks Mr. Floyd expects to give all the new members ready to play with the old band. Enough new instruments are being bought to bring the number up to give all the new members a place in algebra. The papers were graded at Lexington and ranked according to districts.

Shiloh News

Well! I listened all day yesterday to catch something to write about, but it was in vain. Our neighborhood was quite the weekend.
Miss Doveanna Crass spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Onpha Bratton.
Little Miss Uldine Hunt is improving rapidly at this writing.
Mrs. Clara Grogan was ill last week with something like a nervous spell.
Miss Evelyn Scott attended the Epworth League program at Temple Hill Thursday night.
The people of this community met at the school building with Bro. Smith Sunday afternoon and organized Sunday School. There were forty-two enrolled. We hope our classes will still increase. Everyone come that can.

BACKUSBURG HOMEMAKERS CLUB MET SATURDAY, MAY 9

The Backusburg Homemakers' Club met with Mrs. Lola Smith May 9. Members present were: Mrs. Nina Riley, Lola Smith, Flossie Smith, Mable Hughes, Mary Stevens, Mabel Fuqua, and visitors were: Mrs. Bettie Wade, Treva Smith, and Lou Billington.
Juniors present, Misses Fannie D. Hollie and Cella Billington, Frances Fuqua, Nora E. Smith, Ha F. Stevens, Marcella Riley. Visitors were, Mary Sue Guter, Marvel and Mary Wilson.
The juniors will complete unit No. 1. Next meeting a prize will be awarded to Junior receiving most blue ribbons on garments made this year. They are doing some splendid work. Only one is over nine years old.
The regular club began with roll call and report on last meeting by secretary, Mrs. Mary Stevens made quite an interesting report on the sower.
Mrs. Nina Riley then passed around cloth, buttons, needle and thread to each one present, telling them to sew the buttons in such a way as to make eyes, then make an animal in two minutes.
There were ows, cats and dogs. Some didn't look like much of any thing. Mrs. Mabel Fuqua won the prize which was a box of powder. Mrs. Treva Smith was the judge.
Mrs. Waterfield then took charge of meeting, giving quite an interesting talk on "The Benefits of Milk and the Various Ways in which it could be Used". She then went into the kitchen and made some very delicious salads using Cottage Chees as the foundation.
The meeting adjourned at 4 o'clock to meet with Mrs. F. P. Hughes on June 13.—Reporter.
